Dr. Edward J. Lynch, superintendent of the Shelton sanatorium, and his assistant. Dr. George L. Bunnell, reported on experiments which seemed to prove, except in cases of miliary tuberculosis—that is, the generalized tuberculosis—caused by the sudden rupture of a tuberculosis giand into the blood stream—that the tubercle bacilli are not to be found in the blood of consumptives. As to the second question, these doctors held that the tuberculosis infection spreads through the lymph and not through the blood.

A discussion followed on the views advanced, and there was a difference of opinion.

The visiting physicians were interested in a display of X-ray pictures of doubtful cases in the Shelton sanatoria. BOARD OF BELIEF 18

The decomposition of the programme in the first act. Miss Viola Grover, as Mint. was another of the well chosen cast, who was deserving of a great deal of credit. Her singing was excellent and her acting was exceptional. The entertainment numbers in the second act by Lyle Fil more, Miss Mary Gray and Miss Ethel Hannan were very well received and to-gether with the choruses filled in admiraby in the settings.

Each act had a novel opening featuring The Spirit of Shadowland, portrayed by Miss Florine Schoffeld. The ending of the production and introduction of the characters by the bugler, Miss Margaret Shugrue, was very unique. The choruses were exceptionally well chosen and their dancing and singing was very good. The Pierettes scored the biggest hit of the evening with their number, Golden Reminiscences of Girl-hood Days, and were encored several times. The Paddle Addle scene was very pretty and pleasing as was in fact every scene in the whole production.

The costumes in the production were exceptionally good and well selected, showing a harmonizing taste and beautiful blending of color. Those to receive bouquets during the evening were Mrs. Buckingham, Miss Gray and Miss Grover.

TAPTVILLE GIRL'S ESSAY GIVEN HONORABLE MENTION The essay that received third honor-able mention in the contest conducted by the Chelsea Savings bank was written by Ethel Holland of Taftville. She wrote as follows upon the subject Why Boys and Girls Should Have Bank Books and Save Money: Do you remember the old but true say-

Sure to come.

When you are a feeble, old man, er woman, who will come to you and give you something to eat? Certainly not the proprietor of the movies, its cream parlor or candy kitchen; but you can safely depend upon it that he has something put away for a rainy day.

If you are a visitor in a rich men's house you will see his wife fretting be-cause her "darling Fido" (which happens to be a puppy) has no milk; while across the way in a poor tenement house that seems roady to fall down sits an old man seems roady to fall down sits an old man in a small room who knows that soon he will be put out into the cold. He sits on a broken chair, shivering from the cold, and muttering: "Ah, what a fool I have been! Why did I spend my money so eagerly, while now I am starving and cold. If I only had a crust of bread."

Where will such specimens he when feeble with age? In their graves, no doubt, after intense suffering: nad yet young people still throw their money away foolishly after seeing such painful sights.

Are you going to be the same pleture of misery that you have seen so m times? If not, start a bank book, it is your best friend, beside God. not start now? It is never too late to begin, or never too early to start.

DEATH OF TWO NEGROES Newark, N. J., Feb. 5 .- A gin conco by Ethel Holland of Taftvilla. She wrote as follows upon the subject Why Boys and Girls Should Have Bank Books and Save Money:

Do you remember the old but true saying. "A man in old age to enjoy himself must in his youth deny himself." What a pity that so many disregard it.

Most young people spend their money as soon as they get it on such as movies, ice cream pariors and candy kitchens, never thinking of the "rainy day" that is sure to come.
